DEATH COMES

TO DR. MOORMAN.

Prominent Citizen of Breckenridge County Dies Friday Night At 10:30 O'clock.

SURROUNDED BY FAMILY.

Dr. J. L. Moorman died Friday night at 10:30 o'clock. His death had been momentarily expected for several days and he was surrounded by the members of his family when the end came. Dr. Moorman had been in ill health over a year suffering continuously. He gave up his dental practice some time before his final breakdown to take treatment, but his condition did not improve.

COMES BACK.

Early last fall Dr. and Mrs. Moorman moved their family to Louisville and soon after Christmas when he realized that he could not live much longer, he asked to come back home to await death. Mrs. Moorman came with him and they stayed at the home of his sister, Mrs. Owen, until arrangements could be made to take him to their property on River Front in the East End. Every Sunday after they came here his children would come from Louisville to be with him and their mother, and last Sunday, when he seemed to be sinking, his daughters, Misses Kate and Adelia, and son, Frank, remained. His other children, Mrs. Joe Harpole and Jack Moorman were called from Louisville Thursday. Jesse Moorman was here, having been nursing his father from the beginning of his worst illness.

A CHRISTIAN.

Dr. Moorman had been an honored and substantial citizen of Cloverport for fifteen years and the town knows that he was a Christian in his home, in his church and in his business and social life. He was a devoted father, a faithful church worker, paid his debts and was a true friend.

BORN IN BRECKENRIDGE.

Dr. Moorman was born in Breckenridge county at the Moorman home and was sixty-two years of age in January. Besides his children and his wife, who was Miss Sallie Sterrett, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. T. Owen and Mrs. R. O. Willis, of this city.

THE FUNERAL.

The funeral was held from the Baptist church, of which Dr. Moorman was a member at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The services were conducted by the Rev. James Lewis and concluded at the Cloverport cemetery where the internment took place. The pall-bearers were: Judge Willis, Wm. Ashby, Foster Heyser, Frank Payne, James Fitch and Thomas Tousey. The floral tributes were beautiful.

Tickling or dry coughs will quickly loosen when using Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. And it is so thoroughly a mess that Dr. Shoop tells mothers to use nothing else, even for very young babies. The wholesome green leaves and tender stems of a lung healing mountainous shrub give the curative properties to Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. It calms the cough and heals the sensitive bronchial membrane. No opium, no chloroform, nothing harsh used to injure or suppress. Demand Dr. Shoop's. Take no other. All dealers.

Barnett Withdraws Resignation.

President C. M. Barnett of the American Society of Equity, who recently tendered his resignation as such, at the solicitation of the Board of Directors, other officers and a large part of the membership, withdrew same and has agreed to continue at the head of the great organization. He went to Indianapolis Monday to attend the regular meeting of the Board of Directors Tuesday, and the matter of his resignation would have been considered at the meeting had he not on the evening of the board withdrew it. Had Mr. Barnett's resignation been accepted the Vice President would have succeeded to the position and served the time out. The fact that the Board of Directors, which is composed of the State Presidents, urged Barnett to remain at the head of the organization is pretty good evidence that dissatisfaction is in a great measure dying out.—Hartford Republican.

A Beneficial Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Curtis have returned home from their trip West, both very much improved in health. Mr. Curtis is the Henderson Route agent at Glendene—a more faithful and truer man to his work and employees never handled a piece of freight. Always at his post, kind, courteous and accommodating, he has made many friends for his road and himself as well. Mr. Curtis has been agent at Glendene for eighteen years, and this is the first time he was ever checked out. A pretty good record.

Mr. Sebastian Dead.

Mrs. A. R. Fisher and Mrs. Mary Raitt received a telegram Monday morning announcing the death of their brother, W. W. Sebastian. Mr. Sebastian was a retired merchant and planter of Shreveport, La. He is survived by his wife, two sons and three daughters. His many friends here very pleasantly remember his last visit to his sisters which was a year ago this January.

Lent Begins.

Services will be held at the St. Rose Catholic church Ash Wednesday, March 4 at 8:30 a. m. which is the beginning of Lent.

STITH-PENICK

NUPTIALS.

Pretty Home Wedding Takes Place at Hardinsburg Yesterday.

THEY WILL LIVE NEAR CUSTER.

Hardinsburg, Ky., March 4.—(Special.)—At the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Stith, a pretty home wedding took place at 2:30 yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon. The bride, Miss Lena Kincheloe Stith, is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stith, and is one of Hardinsburg's most lovely and accomplished girls. She is at the top of the teaching profession in Breckenridge county, and is universally admired for the gentle charms of her manner and her womanly worth unexcelled qualities.

The groom, Mr. David Thomas Penick, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Penick, of Custer, and is a young man of worth and energy. He is a successful young farmer, and has many friends over the county.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Isaiah Cline in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

After receiving the congratulations of their admiring friends the happy couple left for their home, some three miles from Custer.

The news joins in extending to the worthy young couple the best wishes for long and happy lives.

ABOUT MEN WHO ARE DOING THINGS.

David M. Duncan, of Brandenburg, has issued from the press of the Meade County Messenger, a periodical that promises to be a splendid magazine for the home and a helpful paper for poultry raisers. The Kentucky Poultry Journal is a credit to Mr. Duncan.

L. T. Reid who has just recently been in Ohio says that the people here do not know what the panic is compared with those in the Buckeye state.

J. C. Weatherholt, one of the best grocers in town, has added a stock of wall paper to his business. Mr. Weatherholt's trade is increasing all the time and he is handling the paper for accommodation to his customers.

Mr. Brown's Bakery in the West End is as clean as any place could be kept and speaks for the purity of the Home Bakery bread. Mr. Brown is contemplating opening a branch store in the business section of the city.

D. Stewart Miller, manager of the Miller Brick & Tile Co., has returned after several days' stay in Columbus, O. and Owensboro. Just when the plant will be in full operation is not known; it might possibly open up at once which would be very favorable to Cloverport.

Mr. Frank Fraize celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday last week. On account of his age and success in business he can well be called the "King Merchant" of Breckenridge county.

Will Pate, the energetic manager at the Cloverport Foundry, says it is dull in that shop, only enough work to keep him and a few others hustling.

Fourth District Republicans have announced that they will nominate Hon. John P. Haswell, of Hardinsburg, for Congress.—Leitchfield Gazette.

Al. Smith, of Elizabethtown, was here Sunday and rendered two violin solos at the Methodist church. His music was greatly enjoyed and appreciated by large audiences at both the morning and evening services. Mr. Smith's violin cost $1,000.

Beavin--Rush.

The wedding of Miss Georgia Rush and Mr. Burnette Beavin took place in the St. Rose Catholic church yesterday. Father Celestine Brey officiated in the marriage ceremony in the presence of a few friends of the bridal couple. Miss Rush is an attractive young woman, of Lodi and is very popular.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Miss Grace Ferry, of Cloverport, Ky., and Mr. Homer Allen Dawley, chief engineer of the Henderson Route, were quietly married at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Gervase Raughton, pastor of the Wesley Chapel, Methodist Episcopal church, at Cincinnati. The marriage will come as a surprise to their many friends, as only a few relatives knew of the approaching nuptials. Miss Ferry is the daughter of the late F. I. Ferry, master mechanic of the Henderson Route. She had been making her home with her brother, Mr. Frank C. Ferry, at 1036 Sixth Street, for several months. Mr. Dawley has been chief engineer of the road for about eighteen months, having succeeded Leonard Cox. He is one of the best known young railroad men of Louisville. Following a short bridal tour they will return to Louisville to make their home.—Louisville Times.

Mrs. Lawley is the daughter of Mrs. Nannie Ferry, of this city, and is one of the most interesting young women of Cloverport. Mr. and Mrs. Dawley will arrive here next Sunday for a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ferry.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Payne entertained a few friends to dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Stader gave an informal forty-two party Wednesday night. The guests included some of the young people of the West End.

Miss Margaret Burn delightedly entertained the "Lucky Thirteen" last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Weatherholt were at home Tuesday evening to a number of their young friends. The house was beautifully decorated in cut roses and potted plants. Several vocal quartettes were charmingly rendered by Misses Eva and Eliza May, Ira Behn and Lawrence Murray. Besides them the others present were: Misses Carrie and Claude Pate; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Roff; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barker, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pate and Amiel and Mary Pate. Mrs. H. C. Pate. Cream and cakes were served to the guests during the evening.

Among the young married women who entertain charmingly and with delightful ease is Mrs. J. Byrne Severs who was hostess to the Ladies Reading Club Thursday afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. Barrett, and Mrs. Roscoe Severs. She was assisted in entertaining by Miss Ray Heyser. In the dining room which was darkened and illuminated with candles, articles to represent books were placed on a table. The guests were given cards on which to write the names of the books as they guessed them. Mrs. B. M. Currie received a prize for getting the largest number right. Among the guests present were: Mrs. J. C. Nolte, Mrs. Hovious Behn, Mrs. James Younger, Mrs. Frank Payne, Mrs. Forrest Lightfoot, Mrs. Leon McGavock, Mrs. J. A. Barry, Mrs. John Ross, and Mrs. Chas. Hook. Chocolate ices and cake were served as refreshments.

Lame Shoulder.

Whether resulting from a sprain or from rheumatic pains, there is nothing so good for a lame shoulder as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Apply it freely and rub the parts vigorously at each application and a quick cure is certain. For sale by Severs' Drug Co.

In Memoriam.

Whereas our Heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom has taken from the Missionary Society of Garfield Baptist church, our sister and a most consecrated and spiritual member, Mrs. Emma Stinnet, therefore be it Resolved, we thank God for a life lived in such humble and loving obedience to the Savior.

That we ever try to keep in mind her example of loving, Christ-like service. A friend to the friendless, a help to the helpless, a blessing to all whom she came in contact.

Realizing that we have lost a friend, a faithful and consecrated member, and that we try to remember her work on earth is finished and she has gone to the haven of the faithful.

That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her family and spread upon the minutes of the society and a copy be sent to the Western Recorder and to each county paper.

QUIETLY SET A TRAP

How the Republicans Brought About the Election of Bradley For Senator.

DEMOCRATS CAUGHT NAPPING

The Latter Were Not Looking for Things to Take the Turn They Did on That Eventful Friday and Were Taken Unawares.

Frankfort, Ky., March 3.—The senatorial race came to an unexpected close last Friday, when the four Democrats, Charlton, McNutt and Mueller of Louisville and Lillard of Boyle, who have persistently refused to vote for Beckham, voted for Bradley and elected him. The finish was an exciting one, as the Republicans quietly set a trap for the Democrats and caught them napping. It takes seventy votes to make a quorum of the joint assembly, and if all the Democrats but those who voted for Bradley had remained out of the joint session Friday there would not have been a quorum, as several Republicans were out of the city. The Democrats knew this, but as the absent Republicans and Democrats were paired, they thought it would not make any difference, and that the day's ballot would be just like the others that preceded it. When the roll-call began the Democrats voted for Beckham, and the Republicans for Bradley. When Charlton's name was called he voted for Wheeler Campbell as usual, but after five or six Democrats had voted for Beckham, which insured a quorum, he arose and changed his vote to Bradley. The Democrats realized then that they were in the meshes of the trap, and as the roll-call proceeded there was much scurrying about and hurried whispered conferences, but when McNutt, Mueller and Lillard all voted for Bradley the race was over. The Democrats fought for time to try to get together and allow the bolting Democrats to select some other Democrat and unite on him, but it was too late, the die was cast. Governor Beckham came inside the hall and whispered to some of his leaders. Senator Combs of Lexington announced that Beckham was no longer a candidate and all Democrats were at liberty to vote for any other Democrat they might choose, but they could unite on no other man. Senator Newman of Woodford announced that he was authorized to say that a caucus of the Democrats would be held that night and another nominee selected if the bolting Democrats would come back and keep Bradley from being elected, but it all did no good, and after more than an hour of wrangling the result was finally announced and Bradley declared elected, sixty-four having voted for him and sixty-three against him. It was the first time in the history of the state that legislators elected by one political party had gone completely over and helped elect the nominee of the other party. Many instances are on record where legislators refused to support their party nominee, but they always cast their votes for another member of their party. Of course there is some bitterness and charges that money was used are being made, but the public has grown so accustomed to money being used in politics that it is looked upon as a matter of course. Anyway, if it was sought to prove who paid the money or who received it, the witnesses would likely testify like the negro witness when asked what was the color of the suit worn by the man he had seen running through his house, and he replied: "Well, sir, it seems as if he had on a dark, red-checked, wine-colored, brown suit." The public will be ready to believe that money was used, but as to who paid, who received it or how much was paid, nobody will ever tell.

There is much speculation as to what effect the result in the senatorial race will have on the county unit local option bill, but no one seems to know, as one side says it means the defeat of the bill, while the other side says it means the bill will surely pass. The bill has already passed the house and is now in the senate awaiting whatever fate may befall it. It has been the current understanding about Frankfort that the bill would be passed by the house whenever it came to a vote, but that it would be held up and killed by delay when it reached the senate, as that body has been considered about evenly divided on the question. The senate committee on religion and morals, to which such bills are always referred, is largely composed of anti-county-unit senators, and if the house bill is referred to that committee it may refuse to report it at all. This being the case, a fight will likely be made to refer it to some other committee more favorable to its passage. It is believed here that if the bill is not passed, Governor Willson

Governor Willson sent another message to the legislature a few days ago, in which he renewed many of his former recommendations. In addition he says the governor under the present law has no power to make or have made the necessary investigations that might result in the conviction of the night riders, and asks the legislature to set apart a fund of $25,000 which may be under the governor's control, to be used in apprehending and convicting men guilty of these crimes. He says the militia has been on duty for the past three months have already cost the state about $12,000. He urges the passage of a law directing the attorney general and his assistants to take charge of and control all investigations of offenses against the laws, where the attorney general believes the local authorities are likely to fail to prosecute such offenses. He asks for a speedy consideration of the county unit bill and urges the adoption of a bill redistricting the state into legislative districts. He says the attorney general should be authorized to investigate the cause of the troubles in the tobacco districts and also investigate the trusts and their connection with the troubles. He thinks the military fund is not large enough, and urges the appropriation of $75,000 a year, so as to put the Kentucky soldiers on an equal footing with the soldiers of other states. He recommends a law giving state aid to the building of public roads, and again urges that provision be made for non-partisan boards to control the state charity and penal institutions. He calls attention to the fact that there is but little money in the state treasury, and says the legislature should be careful in making appropriations. In concluding his message he says: "I beg to extend to every member of the general assembly the hope that we shall be found working together for the general welfare, with prudence, courage and good judgment and with hope and faith, and that the remaining days of the session may be uninterrupted by death or any misfortune, and may bring forth good fruits, of diligent, unceasing and good work in completing the business of the people entrusted to the legislative department, and I hope that the general assembly will not delay in what it can do to give power and means to put an end to the conditions of lawlessness and disorder. It has seldom happened that anyone who bore the name of Kentuckian was willing to hide his face or personality, and it is a grief and a shame that we have come to a time when hundreds of people living in Kentucky do go by night in lawless bands with faces hidden under masks and bodies disguised, to rob people of their liberties, to inflict shameless indignities, to terrorize whole communities and to destroy the liberty, rights and the property values of the people of the state."
